Project: Grove Isle

Details: 15,000 SY Axminster

Brintons provided over 15,000 SY of Axminster carpet for the refurbishment private luxury residential resort of the Grove Isle in Coconut Grove, Miami.

The renovation project drew inspiration from the German Templar era of Jerusalem, as seen in the design of the Orient Hotel established in the late 19th century. Initially conceived by the late Nick Luaces, the project was later taken on by Lourdes Gabriela Suarez of Lourdes Gabriela Interiors.

The design employed a subtle neutral color palette and timeless graphics in the carpet, appealing to the varied tastes of residents and property owners alike. Additionally, runners and door drop panels were placed strategically to accent the architecture of each of the three towers.

The renovation not only revitalized the corridors but also seamlessly blended history with modern aesthetics, creating a welcoming environment for all who traverse them.

"I was lucky that Brintons had been selected as the carpet provider. The quality of the wool carpet is exceptional and their professionalism helped us move forward under dire circumstances."
